

2018 Hall of Fame Inductee Neil Devlin – Denver

Neil Devlin is a native of Phoenixville, Pennsylvania, which is a suburb on the northwest side of Philadelphia. He went to grade school at St. Ann's, Phoenixville and High School at St. Pius X in Pottstown, PA.

Neil's Newspaper and Media experience is extensive. He worked for The Evening Phoenix from 1977-80; the Aurora Sentinel, Aurora Sun and Associated Press from 1980-82; The Denver Post from 1982-90, a stringer for Neighbors sections, covering high school sports which included desk copy editing, layout and handling wires in addition to helping with the colleges and pros; a prep sports editor, from 1990-2016, covering all of Colorado's 300-plus high schools including game stories, blogs, columns, news stories, notes and features. He handled a budget, oversaw photo and video assignments; regularly spoke to high school classes; and active in web content design. He is currently the Sports Information Director at Mullen High.

Neil also worked with and appeared on Channel 9 and Channel 4; a contributor to Mile High Sports magazine, Colorado Preps website, Boulder Daily Camera, Prep Baseball Report-Colorado and WoodyPaige.com. In addition, he has made radio, webcast, and podcast appearances into the hundreds.

Neil is married to Holly who is a 6-time swim champion at Cherry Creek and works in the library at Rangeview High in Aurora. Their sons: Ryan, 34, is a Special Olympian and a graduate of Gateway, Aurora; and Rory, 29, was a U.S. Army Captain and Jag Officer in the Reserves and National Guard, who served outside of Kabul with Special Forces. He is a graduate of Smoky Hill in Aurora, Creighton University and DU Law School.